MADE IN YORKSHIRE

Fragrance of an English country garden

It is over one hundred years ago since Everard Carter first started formulating and producing herbal remedies. His humble premises consisted of a small laboratory in an old Victorian house on the edge of a Yorkshire mill town. Back in 1903, he could never have foreseen that his company would be a legacy for the next four generations of his family.

Today though, it is myself, Everard's great, great, nephew and my wife Julia who proudly manage Fikkerts. We continue to formulate all our products from the finest quality herbal and botanical ingredients, always developing new ranges to appeal to ever changing customer taste.

The fact that we produce our own products here in Yorkshire means that we also have control over quality – not surprisingly why Fikkerts has gained such an enviable reputation in the industry.

Every single product is designed with a simple vision in mind - it must be both pleasurable to sell, a joy to buy and a delight to receive. From the development of a fragrance right through to the design of the packaging, Fikkerts take every care to make sure that their products not only look amazing but also feel fabulous when used.

We sincerely hope that you enjoy browsing our catalogue. We are always delighted to receive feedback from you our valued customers. After all, without you, Everard's dream would not be alive today.

Best Regards,

Richard Julia

Richard and Julia Fikkert.
